WELCOME

Love thy neighbour

This January, as part of our Midland Korea Season, we will imagine what North Korea looks like through the perspectives of eight artists working in the “Demilitarized Zone” in-between North and South Korea. Curated by the internationally renowned Sunjung Kim and The Real DMZ, the exhibition explores common, global issues of migration, borders and displacement and will challenge perceptions of North Korea. Later in the season, Mixrice, winners of the Korean Art Prize 2016, feature at Eastside Projects in Birmingham.

The Here There & Everywhere India programme culminates in Birmingham with an art summit and solo exhibition by Sahej Rahal and Ratna Gupta featuring MapUtopia, a digital engagement programme exploring what we love within our nations. A special panel of guests will accompany our screening of the documentary that tells the hidden story of many thousands of men, women and children disappeared by Syrian regime in February. Look out for the National Holocaust Memorial Centre’s new White Rose Appeal in March. They have commissioned a major new work by Katja Hock which can be seen on the exterior of our building from the end of March.

Families can enjoy even more of our free activities, due to popular demand our family events have grown significantly this season. Drop in to Saturday Art Club every week, learn about kindness, equality, cultures, traditions and beliefs in one of our special film screenings, holiday workshops or art explorer sessions in the galleries.

If you haven’t done so already, make sure you sign up to receive regular updates on events, latest news and special offers by email. We look forward to seeing you soon.

The Real DMZ

ARTISTIC ENCOUNTERS THROUGH KOREA'S DEMILITARIZED ZONE

27 JANUARY - 15 APRIL 2018

EXHIBITION LAUNCH

Friday 26 January 2018, 6pm - 9pm

The Real DMZ: Artistic encounters through Korea's demilitarized zone has been curated by Sunjung KIM and The Real DMZ Project, a contemporary art initiative based on research conducted on the demilitarized zone (DMZ) between North and South Korea. The exhibition features eight South Korean artists who address the reality of the division of the Korean peninsula - the persisting violence, tension and various perceptions of North Korea.

Given North Korea's hermetic status as a nation, artists in the exhibition including Kyungah HAM, Onejoon CHE, and Seung Woo BACK, question the representations of North Korea that permeate the mainstream media, and provide new, inventive possibilities of imagining the North. Envisioning the DMZ itself, Hayoun KWON has produced a video virtual walk-through of the DMZ based on accounts from a soldier stationed there, and Soyoung CHUNG, who participated in an artist-in-residency program at Yangji-ri, a village in the border area, presents an installation inspired by the lights she saw in the dark imagining they were signals from the North. Photographs by Heinkuhn OH and PARK Chan-kyong feature young soldiers from the South and North respectively. Heinkuhn OH's portraits show conflicting moments of violence, anxiety and absurdity, and PARK Chan-kyong's new video piece reveals the vulnerable, humanistic sides of North Korea through ordinary and tender moments of childhood. The exhibition also features new work by Yeondoo JUNG.

The Real DMZ is part of the Midlands Korea Season (led by NAE and Eastside Projects) and Korea/UK 2017-18, a national celebration of British and Korean art and culture. The show has been financially supported by Arts Council England and Arts Council Korea (ARKO).

KATJA K. HOCK

24 MARCH - 22 APRIL 2018

To launch their new White Rose Appeal, the National Holocaust Memorial Centre in Nottinghamshire, has commissioned a major photographic and film work by the Nottingham based artist, Katja Hock. This new piece, titled Lichtung, will appear on the exterior of NAE's building as prints and projections visible 24 hours a day. Blending together still and moving imagery, Hock's black and white work frequently deals with the subject of memory and the passage of time. Familiar forms appear and disappear, boundaries become blurred, and pools of intense black and white leave us blinded to distinctive identities. Bringing together the stones and roses that underpin this significant campaign, and fusing them into an indistinguishable whole, Hock challenges the distinctiveness and difference that have led so many millions to be murdered in acts of Holocaust.

EVENTS

EXHIBITION LAUNCH
Friday 26 January
6pm - 9pm

Celebrate the launch of The Real DMZ, an exhibition featuring eight South Korean artists who shed light on the neglected and often distorted narratives that surround North Korea and its border with the South, the demilitarized zone. Join us for speeches and a complimentary drink on arrival and learn more about our upcoming season of events. With music from Truth and Lies DJs.

Admission: FREE
Age range: All are welcome

MAKE IT WORK

IN CONVERSATION
Saturday 27 January
2pm - 4pm

Join The Real DMZ co-curator Keum Hyun HAN with exhibiting artists Onejoon CHE, Seung Woo BACK and Soyoung CHUNG to discuss the aims of The Real DMZ Project. How are artists exposing the realities of such an unknown space, one so distorted by the media in the West? How has working with such a complex ideological divide shaped the trajectory of the artists' work, and the project as a whole? This conversation will be chaired by Je Yun Moon, curator at Korean Cultural Centre UK, and will be joined by NAE CEO Skinder Hundal.

Admission: FREE
Age range: All are welcome

FAT THURSDAY ON A SATURDAY

FESTIVAL
Saturday 10 February
2pm - 4pm

Join Nottingham's Signpost to Polish Success to celebrate Fat Thursday with an afternoon of family activities inspired by the tales of Pyza, the Polish dumpling girl! Enjoy family crafts and the screening of Pyza's adventures through Poland (subtitled). Try a free Pączki, a jam-filled Polish doughnut, as Polish kitchens use up the last of their rich foods before Lent. Join us to learn more about Polish culture and customs with fun for all the family.

Admission: FREE
Age range: All are welcome

Holiday Workshops: Half Term

Monday 19 February - Thursday 22 February

4 sessions / FREE

Places and Faces

FOR 7-10 YRS

10.30am-12.30pm

Develop your drama and performance skills with acting coach, Natalia Bruce. We'll learn about people and places and how they inspire our daily thoughts and actions. With the other young people, together you will create your own unique performance.

Try something new and meet new friends during the holidays! These FREE workshops run over four consecutive days with a sharing performance at the end for parents/carers and friends to watch.

Breaking Borders

FOR 11-16 YRS

2pm - 4pm

Join acting coach Natalia Bruce to explore boundaries and borders through drama, acting and music. Together we'll create a performance presenting your own interpretation of borders; what do they mean? How do they affect us? How can they be broken? A fun space to learn a new skill, make friends and build confidence.

Booking recommended for all workshops.

FESTIVAL FUN

Each season NAE hosts a festival day which celebrate the rich culture of Hyson Green and Nottingham's diverse communities through music, performance, food and art. These vibrant events are a great opportunity for cultural expression and learning so this season bring your family along to Fat Thursday On A Saturday (10 Feb), a celebration of Polish children's stories.

See page 8 for details.

FAMILY FILMS

Enjoy the big screen for FREE at NAE! Our performance space transforms into a cosy cinema showing specially selected films that promote kindness and equality and above all, the joys of learning about cultures, traditions and beliefs. Bring snacks and come and go (accessible toilets are just outside). The lights will never be too low, or the sound too loud for young ones. We welcome film fans who like to dress up (or down!) as characters, cartoons or your very own fancy dress creation!

See page 10 for details of this season's family film.
